Supervisor Glover's Update

- The Supervisor and myself have been working on the Rodeo Clean-Up and more information about this will be presented later in this agenda because it is a discussion item.

- Since the Rodeo MAC has an open position, the Supervisor accepted applications and conducted interviews. The Supervisor has decided to appoint Lauren McCollins because he believes that her work background would be a great addition to the Rodeo MAC.

- Around the same time last year, I updated the Rodeo MAC and the community about the sidewalk and street improvements that were scheduled to take place in the summer of 2019 on Pacific Avenue, Investment Street, and Parker Avenue. Those improvements did not occur in 2019 because a green infrastructure element, another sidewalk, and a curb ramp was incorporated into the project later on which made for a longer process with project design. Public Works has informed me that the project was advertised in January and opening for bids begins the week of February 25. Construction will begin in April and it is projected to be finished by the end of July.

- Supervisor Glover has also been keeping his office involved with the sidewalk project between Hercules and Rodeo. As I have stated before, the Supervisor wants to move forward with the best option for this project which includes a brand new sidewalk without taking away a driving lane and retaining walls, yet the project cost estimate is between $1.2 million and $1.5 million. Unfortunately, Contra Costa County does not have the funds to start or complete this project and that is why we have been looking for grants in the past year. The Supervisor has decided to put this project on the Capital Road Improvement and Preservation Program (CRIPP) because the 2020 CRIPP is coming before the Board of Supervisors this summer. Putting this project on the CRIPP makes it an official project for Public Works to find funding and accomplish. It know can't get pushed back or put on the counter.
